They tore each other's hair, and raised such a rumpus generally that the neighbors sent for some of the boys at the enginehouse to go down and put a stop to the disturbance. Some of the boys did go down, but when they got there the trouble had subsided. As the sequel will show however, it was not a rescent ned off on a passing train gelicense. The woman succeeded in getting her lord and master to bed. Her next move was to get a bottle of chloroform which was near at hand, and administer a dose to her husband, which made him wholly oblivious to what was going on around him. The next act was to procure an old saw, with which she proceeded to do a job in surgery that would put a professional surgeon to blush. Begining at the lower end of theman's leg, she commenced sawing until she had severed that useful appendage in twain. He, totally unconscious of what was going on, slept on 'the sleep of the innocent,' while she, after the job was done, looked on, watching his blood flow. The neighbors outside got wind of what was going on inside the house, and rushed in in time to stop the bleeding, but at last accounts it was a question whether the man would live or not,"

Circumstances Alter Cases.

The other day, while a Vicksburge as riding toward Jackson in his buggy he saw a long-haired young man on a roadside fence. There was such an air of uter desolation about the countryman that the Vicksburger drew rein and in-"O: wearisome condition of humanity!"

women. Through her own imprudence and folly she is made to drag out a miserable existence—a source of annoyance and anxiety to her friends, and any thing but a comfort and pleasure to herself. Exposure to the cold at times when she should be most prudent, and overtaxing her body with laborious employment, are both fruitful causes of many of the maladies from which she suffers. Gradually the bloom leaves her cheeks, her lips grow ashy white, her vivacity departs, she continually experiences a feeling of weariness and general languor, and altogether presents a ghostly appearance. What does she need? Should ashe take some stimulating drug, which will for the time m ke her "feel better," or does her entire system demand reparation? She requires something which not only will restore to health the diseased organs, but will tone and invigorate the system. Dr.Pierce's Pavorite Prescription will do this. It timparts strength to the diseased parts, brings back the glow of health, and restores comfort where previously there was only suffering. Restaurant Prices in London.
[London Currepondenes of the Philadelphis Press.]

I have been giving a little attention to the prices charged by some of the best restaurants in London, in view of a statement which excites great satisfaction throughout Europe that there are to be several large eating houses on the European plan, within or near the Centennial Grounds next year. When I repeat to you that I am constantly receiving intelligence from all parts of Great Britain and the Continent that great numbers of strangers will visit us next year, you will understand how anxious they are in regard to their accommodations when they arrive. These people are so accustomed to moderate charges for good living that it requires considerable ingenuity to convince them that competition in the United States is as certain to result advantageously as it does in Europe. Five shillings, or a dollar and a quarter in gold, secures for you a capital dinner, without wine, at Verrey's on Regent atreet. I have known two persons to dine well for five shillings at the Cafe Royal, also on Regent street, and Blanchard's Beek street restaurant aupplies meals at the following rates: With soup or fish, 622 cents, with soup and fish, 75 cents. Without soup or fish, you obtain for two shillings (50 cents) ham croquettes, curried chicken, potatoes, roast beef, roast mutton, ham and beans, cheese and bread and butter, and, for sixpence extra, boiled fowl. A single dish of mayonnaise of chicken costs 75 cents; a chop, including vegetables and cheese, 50 cents. Then there are dinners for 874 cents, with soup, fish, fruit and sweets; then dinners for $1 25, with more elaborate courses. If you order dinners af carfet it is more expensive. Game, lobster, real turtle soup, if ordered, of course, increase the price of dinner; but nothing can excel the meals in the quality of the cooking and the generous supply you receive for from fifty to Restaurant Prices in London.
